Project Highlights

1,735 SF MAIN HOME

1,492 SF PRIMARY SUITE + GARAGE

With nods to mid-century modern aesthetic, this home featured a great open floor plan, but lacked the functionality and warmth that the new homeowners desired. The home was completely upgraded with a neutral color palette and natural materials showcasing the views, landscaping, and indoor/outdoor floor plan enhanced with floor-to-ceiling windows that fully open to the outside.

The great room, dining room, and kitchen create a free-flowing space and feature white oak ceilings, two-toned walnut cabinetry, and honed stone island and countertops. A focal point is the fireplace that was constructed using natural plaster with a chunky stone hearth that was chiseled from an 800-pound block of Indian Buff limestone.

The detached primary bedroom and bathroom, a main focal point of the project, are above the garage and sit 20 feet from the main house. The zen-like primary bedroom features white oak flooring and accent wall. The primary bath is separated by pocket doors and features white oak mill work with details inspired by the homeowners' experiences in Japan. The private suite also includes a sitting area and an expansive ocean view roof deck that was designed and built during production by the Allen team.
