Project Highlights

4,795 SF MODERN HOME
"LAZY RIVER" AND INFINITY POOL

This stunning example of modern indoor-outdoor living with a Pacific Rim influence is easy to clean and even easier to live in.

Elegant, earthly finishes include Santos mahogany floors and ceilings in every room, along with solid mahogany cabinets in the kitchen. Four men worked eight months to install the Egyptian limestone marble found in the entry, interior and exterior walls, all of the fireplaces, all exterior columns, throughout the master bathroom, and on the pool deck. Seamless connections between indoor and outdoor living spaces abound, including a large pocket window which opens the kitchen to the outdoor barbecue area.

A unique element contributed by the owners is a "lazy river", leading from the infinity pool, around the house, and ending adjacent to a Koi pond, surrounded by lush tropical landscape, that separates the main house from the guest wing. Not only are these water features aesthetic and peaceful, they provide natural air conditioning by cooling the warm mountain breezes before they enter the home.
